Allison Smith, Interior Designer

Express your style and paint with confidence.

“If you're like most of my clients, you can be overwhelmed by too many decorating choices. Especially when it comes to paint—who needs 300 colors? Sometimes it's easier to just live with white walls!

Not anymore. After over 20 years of helping people make choices that fit with their personalities and lifestyles, I've created a simple system to narrow down the options, and take the guesswork out of color selection.

Introducing Color Seasons, a collection of 16 palettes inspired by the four seasons. Just choose the four-color palette that best fits your personality, features and style. Then paint your whole home with confidence, knowing your colors look great together, and the overall effect is a perfect reflection of you.”

Interior designer and Portland resident Allison Smith has worked with a variety of residential and commercial clients for the past 20 years. She has received Best in Show awards twice for the Oregon Street of Dreams™ luxury new home tour. Current projects include Jackson Hole, a western themed luxury resort community in Beijing, China and Allison Smith Decorate With What You Own Interiors, a consulting service she runs with her daughter, Ramona.
